

Yanks Under Heavy Fire After Offensive In DMZ

War Escalation Rap Renewed By Zone Drive

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Johnson administration's explanation that a U.S. troop sweep into the South Vietnam demilitarized zone is a defensive move failed to halt criticism that the war is being escalated.

A State Department statement Friday that the ground thrust was aimed at countering a Communist military buildup and was in no way an invasion of North Vietnam won backing from supporters of President Johnson's war policies.

But senatorial critics of the course Johnson is pursuing voiced fears that the war is being intensified to the point where an invasion of the North could be the next step. In their minds this would trigger Chinese intervention and could lead to World War III.

In South Section

The administration has said that at this point American troops are operating only in South Vietnam's section of the demilitarized zone, which extends three miles on either side of the border. But they have not finally ruled out the possibility of a form of hot pursuit of the enemy across the 17th Parallel dividing line.

Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., who recently proposed restricting the bombing of North Vietnam, said although the action might be justified from a military viewpoint because of Communist violation of the DMZ, "it's an escalation."

China Factor

"Any stepping up of the war will make it more difficult to find a peaceful settlement," he said. "Any escalation enlarges the possibility of Red China's intervention. I hope the President will de-escalate the war."

Sen. Jack Miller, R-Iowa, a Johnson policy backer who has visited Vietnam, said in a separate interview: "I'm only surprised that it didn't happen a long time ago."

"It is definitely not a change in policy with respect to an invasion of North Vietnam," he said. "It is an appropriate response to the enemy's violations of the neutrality of the DMZ."

Moscow Protests

Miller, who won Senate confirmation Friday as a Reserve brigadier general, supported the contention of Robert J. McCloskey, State Department press officer, that the Marine-South Vietnamese ground action was a search and destroy operation to counter a buildup in North Vietnamese forces.

President Johnson was understood to have approved the DMZ invasion several days ago. He said nothing about it, however, at a Thursday news conference. George Christian, White House press secretary, would not comment on Johnson's statement Thursday that he saw no change in the level of fighting.

Gladstone Marine Dies In Combat In Vietnam

A 21-year-old Marine from Gladstone was killed in action in Vietnam, his parents were notified Friday. He was the third young soldier from Delta County to die in service this month.

Pfc. Dwight R. Stockholm, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stockholm, 1327 Minnesota Ave., was killed in action Tuesday, May 16, by fragments from a grenade while engaged in action against hostile forces near Quang Tri, according to a telegram Mr. and Mrs. Stockholm received from the Defense Department this morning.

Marine officers from Green Bay, Wis., made first notification to his parents Friday.

Pfc. Stockholm was serving with Echo Company, 2nd Battalion, 26th Marines, 3rd Marine Corps. He had been in Vietnam since March of this year after entering service in Sept., 1966. He had completed basic training at Camp Pendleton, Calif.

The two other young soldiers from Delta County to die while serving their country this month were Spec. 4 Richard A. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Johnson, 321 S. 18th St., Escanaba, who was killed in Vietnam, and Cpl. Roger P. Charon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Charon of Flat Rock, who died in Germany.

Pfc. Stockholm was born Jan. 1, 1946, in Fitchburg, Mass., and had resided in Gladstone with his family for the past eight years.

He was a 1964 graduate of Gladstone High School and had attended Michigan Technological University, Houghton, for two years after receiving a scholarship.

Survivors include his parents and a sister, Christine, at home, and his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Edmond B. Underhill of Poughkeepsie, N.Y.

The body of Pfc. Stockholm will be returned to Gladstone for services. Arrangements will be announced later.

Defected For Peace Try Ban

WASHINGTON (AP)—Janos Radvanyi, until this week Hungary's top diplomat here, reportedly defected to the United States in part because of differences with his government over its handling of Vietnamese peace probes.

Radvanyi indicated in a brief statement Friday there was some policy reason for his break with the government in Budapest but avoided any specific information on its nature.

Radvanyi, 45, is to be questioned shortly by two officials hastily dispatched here by the Hungarian foreign office to find out firsthand whether he made his decision of his own free will and, if possible, why he acted as he did.

The State Department and Radvanyi have agreed to the meeting, it was learned.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The allied line along the Ben Hai, and a sweep north by another 5,000 U.S. Marines from outposts just south of the zone, were intended to trap North Vietnamese units possibly taken by surprise by the sea and helicopter landing deep in the zone.

Allied forces invaded the southern half of the zone for the first time Thursday. Although the zone is supposed to be neutral territory extending about three miles on each side of the border, the United States described the action as a defensive measure against the buildup of North Vietnamese forces there.

A fresh Marine battalion went into the Ben Hai line today, completing occupation of 15 miles along the southern river bank from the South China Sea.

On the left flank coming up Highway 1, about 1,000 South Vietnamese airborne troops were trying to cut through a strong North Vietnamese force.

Two Communist battalions totaling about 1,000 men attacked South Vietnamese troops a few miles south of the zone, near Quang Tri City, capital of the South's northernmost province.

The fighting, involving several government battalions and a tank force, began at dawn today and still was going in midafternoon. Naval gunfire and allied jets on continuous strafing and bombing runs struck the Communist attackers.

Naval support came from the cruisers St. Paul and Boston and the destroyers Edson, Fechteler, Allen M. Sumner and Joseph Strauss. The Navy said Red shore batteries had come no closer than 30 feet with their shells.

The zone sweep is aimed at rooting out entrenched enemy troops, supplies and heavy guns that have been harassing U.S. Marine outposts in recent weeks. Similarly well-entrenched guns in the northern sector of the zone were blasting the sweep force.

U.S. Loss Of Planes Near Record For Day

BULLETIN

SAIGON (AP)—U. S. planes blasted five Communist MIGs from the sky today and probably destroyed one more, the U. S. Command reported.

SAIGON (AP)—Some 10,000 U.S. and South Vietnamese troops in the demilitarized zone came under heavy Communist pressure today and military headquarters reported near record one-day U.S. plane losses over North Vietnam.

The allied forces had formed a line along the Ben Hai River, which divides North from South Vietnam in the middle of the zone. U.S. Marines were under intense mortar and artillery fire and South Vietnamese troops on their left flank were engaged in fierce jungle fighting.

The allied troops have reported killing 232 Communist troops. U.S. Marines have lost 36 dead and 290 wounded and a South Vietnamese spokesman said government troops took light casualties.

Planes Lost

U.S. spokesmen announced that heavy raids over the North Friday cost seven planes—four lost in dogfights with MIGs and three hit by ground fire. The biggest loss in a single day was eight last Dec. 2. Total losses over the North now are 532 U.S. planes.

American fliers reported shooting down four MIGs and probably a fifth. Two other MIGs were destroyed on the ground, spokesmen said.

The U.S. raids included the closest strike yet to the center of Hanoi. The target was an electric power plant 1.1 miles from the heart of the North Vietnamese capital. Other pilots blasted Communist forces in the demilitarized zone.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Israel's 300,000-strong armed forces would face about 260,000 Egyptians and 115,000 Syrians if a Middle Eastern war breaks out between those quarreling neighbors.

Israel, the United Arab Republic and Syria have enough military hardware to start a war of unprecedented dimensions in the Middle East's bloody history.

Israel has 800 tanks against the 2,000 that Egypt has in the West, and Syria from the North, can deploy. The Israeli air force has 350 planes, the combined U.A.R.-Syrian air force 700 planes.

WHEN DICKINSON COUNTY was established 76 years ago, May 21, 1891, here's how it was formed. On the map the "L" shaped portion at the top and upper right side came from Marquette County. The middle section, Channing, Sagola, Randolph, Ralph and Felch, was taken from Iron County, and virtually half, the lower portion of Dickinson County, came from Menominee County.

Dickinson Has Birthday

By BUCK ERIKSON
Of Panax Newspapers

Just for old times sake there should be a birthday cake at the Iron Mountain courthouse tomorrow, but it won't be open.

Seventy-six years ago tomorrow, May 21, 1891, Dickinson, the last and 83rd county to be formed in Michigan, was officially created by Bill No. 89 Public Acts 1891 by the House and Senate and signed by Gov. Winans. It was named in honor of Don M. Dickinson, then U.S. postmaster general.

Born of parts of Menominee, Iron and Marquette counties, the birth of Dickinson County did not come easy. There were five months of labor pains in the state legislature.

Protest Five-Township Theft

Most of the pains came from Iron County, which objected vigorously against the "theft" of five of its townships to help form the new county of Dickinson. This came only a few years after the famed political "theft" in Iron County, which established the east side-west side feud there. Like thieves in the night, the east side Iron County supervisors from Crystal Falls stole the county records from Iron River as the aftermath of a poker game between the supervisors in Iron River. Since that night in 1887, Crystal Falls has been the Iron County seat. In the fight against the establishment of Dickinson County, the opposition was led by William Young. A petition signed by Young and 26 others is still on the records of the House Journal in Lansing as a part of the Feb. 17, 1891, meeting.

The protest stated that Iron County had a bonded debt of $30,000 and the township detachments would make it more difficult to discharge it and that they would also take 700 of the 4,332 population of the county.

Despite the opposite the House voted 54-26 and the Senate 17-12 to create the new county.

Iron Mountain held a big celebration over being named county seat. However, it was not until October that the governor actually named the first officers:

Patrick O'Connell, sheriff.
John Fredrich, clerk.
Anson F. Wright treasurer.
Hugh McLaughlin, register of deeds.

August C. Cook, prosecuting attorney.

Patrick Flannigan, judge of probate.

Edward L. Parmenter, county school commissioner.

David Bergeron, coroner.

Alex Patenaude, coroner.

Most of Dickinson County was taken from Menominee County and the prime reason for the formation of the new county, according to one historian, was:

"From the first discovery of iron in the valley of the Menominee River, that region was known to the world as the Menominee Iron Range."

It is comprised of Menominee and Iron, in Michigan, and Florence in Wisconsin. Being a wild and unsettled region, these counties were made very large and a few years of prosperity and growth made it evident that a division of the largest county, Menominee, was necessary. The northern part being a region of metaliferous mountains and the southern part entirely devoted to lumber industries made it a very natural division."

April Debits Show Increase

Bank debits in Escanaba in April showed an increase of 4 per cent from the same period a year ago, according to statistics released by the Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis. A forward headpiece of lace, trimmed with aurora borealis crystals and tiny pearls, held her bouffant shoulder length veil of silk illusion. A cascade bouquet of yellow roses and white baby carnations, with trailing ivy, completed her attire.

They wore full-length A-line gowns of cotton blue peau de soie with matching headpieces and they carried single yellow roses, trimmed with white satin ribbon bows.

James Smith attended his brother as best man and serving as groomsmen and ushers were Kenneth Smith also a brother of the bridegroom and Gary Hager, brother of the bride.

Mother's Attire The bride's mother wore a light blue dress and the bridegroom's mother, a navy blue dress with white accessories. Both were presented corsages of yellow roses and white carnations. The bride's grandmother wore a blue dress also and pinned a corsage of white carnations.

Organist for the wedding was Miss Dianne Ikala of Rumely, and Mrs. William Bucholtz was the soloist. Before the ceremony she sang "Wedding Prayer," and while the couple knelt at the altar "The Lord's Prayer."

Beauty Queens Say Twiggy Is Unnatural

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — said 36-24-36 Kathleen Solt of Jefferson, Iowa. "She's just not womanly," threw in Sandra Baldwin of Coeur d'Alene, Idaho.

Even the dream of a top modeling career couldn't sway the ladies from their staunch disapproval.

Some were willing to make minor concessions. "She's got a cute face," said Nancy Giuliano of Woonsocket, R.I. "But she looks unnatural."

"I'd like to have her eyes," said Miss Massachusetts, Pamela Procter of Marblehead.

"And I like her nose," offered Ohio's 36-23-35 blonde, Phyllis Smith of Caldwell.

New York's Wendy Cox, who was recently forced to drop out of her prelaw studies at the University of Miami because of a skiing accident, said she has heard that the photographers in New York don't think Twiggy is so hot either.

"I was in one photographer's studio in New York where they had darts thrown into her picture," the slender blonde said.

guests was Miss Cheryl Cady. Miss Catherine Iho served the wedding cake and Miss Andrea Koski served the punch. The newlyweds are making their home at 312 Green Bay St., in Harvey.

Don't Throw Out Iron Pots

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. Q—I have an old iron Dutch oven which I use a great deal. But someone told me ironware is not safe to cook in. Is that true?

A—No. Well-wrapped, wonderfully clean food, cooked in plastic bags or nonmetallic pots has its advantages. But it has disadvantages, too, according to Dr. Philip L. White, secretary of the Council on Foods and Nutrition of the American Medical Association.

"Iron cookware, once a tradition, is rapidly disappearing from the American scene. Disappearing along with it is a rich source of dietary iron. A large amount of very desirable iron is dissolved when acid foods are cooked in ironware. The available iron in food can increase by as much as 100 to 400 per cent. This is of considerable significance to children and women with a high requirement for iron," Dr. White states.

You Get Valuable Extras At No Extra Cost In A D&N Home Loan

Jim Hall Answers Some Helpful Questions for Barbara and Ralph About Home Financing

Q Mortgages are a mystery to us. How can we tell which one is better?

A If you don't know mortgages, know the firm that writes them! Detroit & Northern is a specialist in home financing. They have been helping Michigan families for three-quarters of a century.

Q We have heard that in buying a house, its cost should not exceed 2½ times our income. Is this true?

A This is a rough "yardstick" — but many other factors must also be considered, such as the size of the family, additional assets, etc. Thus, another "yardstick" would be that the monthly mortgage payment should not exceed one-quarter of the net monthly income.

Q If my husband is transferred out of town and we have to sell our house suddenly, can we pay off our mortgage without penalty?

A Yes. This is one of several important safeguards you do not find in all mortgages. But you find them in every mortgage written by Detroit & Northern.

Q A 25-year mortgage offers lower monthly payments than a 30-year mortgage. Are you better off to "trade years for dollars" with a longer term mortgage?

A This is like buying on "long easy terms." The longer you take the more you pay. Terms may be easier, but the total cost is more. A better way to get lower monthly payments is with a lower cost mortgage such as you may often find at Detroit & Northern. It pays to SHOP AND COMPARE.

Briefs Requested In Fraud Hearing Dickinson To Keep Its Time

Municipal Judge James Fitzharris of Escanaba asked State and defense attorneys to file legal briefs on the issues involved in fraud charges against two former Iron Mountain men after four days of testimony in the preliminary hearing ended Friday.

A ruling on whether or not the men should be bound over to Circuit Court to stand trial on the charges is not expected until late this summer.

Defendants Berval E. Thorson of Wausau, Wis., and Alexander H. Massopust Jr. of Madison Lake, Minn., have pleaded innocent to two counts of fraud.

They were charged after an investigation into circumstances surrounding the failure of subcontractors and building suppliers to be paid for their service in construction of the Bowl-A-Rama, 2510 1st Ave. N.

Thorson and Massopust were partners in the Peninsula Construction Co. of Iron Mountain, general contractors for the Bowl-A-Rama. The firm has filed bankruptcy.

Judge Fitzharris said the State, represented by Assistant Attorney General Robert J. Dietrich of Lansing, will have 30 days from the time preliminary hearing transcripts are available to file briefs. Defense attorneys, Richard Weber of Wausau, Wis., and Bailey Blethen of Mankato, Minn., will have 30 days in which to reply. The state will then have an additional 10 days to file further briefs.

A defense motion to dismiss the charges Friday after completion of the testimony was taken under advisement by Fitzharris. He said today he will not rule on the motion until the briefs he requested are filed.

Including time for court reporters to complete transcripts and the time allowed for the attorneys to prepare briefs, a ruling is not expected until August or September.

Thorson and Massopust Jr., who waived extradition to appear at the preliminary hearing, have posted bond and will remain free.

The information charges Thorson and Massopust Jr. with obtaining $12,500 from Delta Recreation Inc., owners of the Bowl-A-Rama, and another $70,000 from a Bowl-A-Rama mortgage with Thorpe Finance Corp., Niagara, Wis., and "have, with intent to defraud, retained and used said monies or a part thereof for their own use and/or for other purposes . . . instead of making payments for the specific improvement known as the Bowl-A-Rama."

A total of 32 witnesses appeared in court during the four-day hearing, all of them called by the state.

Iron County To Seek Industry

Approval of $40,000 to finance a study of the feasibility of establishing an industrial park in Iron County, is announced today by the Economic Development Administration.

The ERA technical assistance was requested by the West Side Regional Planning Commission, of Iron River, to help create jobs in the mined-out western section of Iron County. Unemployment in 1966 averaged 8.1 per cent, more than twice the national average.

The project will be conducted by a private contractor to be selected by EDA. It includes evaluating industrial site potentials and determining ways to consolidate public services and utilities to reduce duplication among the several sub-county jurisdictions.

If the feasibility of an industrial park is established and a site is selected, the contractor will provide detailed plans and estimates of cost for its development, including a program for attracting new industry to the area.

IRON MOUNTAIN — The cities of Iron Mountain, Kingsford and Norway at a joint meeting here last night resolved to defy any state order changing the present time standard to Eastern Daylight Time.

In an effort to spread the rebellion throughout the Upper Peninsula, copies of the resolution are being mailed today to the mayors of all major U. P. cities.

The resolution was adopted due to an expected order expected next week to put Michigan's clocks one hour ahead of the present time.

The resolution in part reads: "The Interstate Commerce Commission, now a part of the Transport Department, has authority for setting time zones and currently the Upper Peninsula is in the Central Standard Time Zone."

"It is strongly felt by the three cities and their residents that neither law nor common sense dictate Eastern Daylight Time for this area."

"The three municipalities shall remain on Central Daylight Time the present time, (or Eastern Standard Time) until further action or developments dictate a change."

The meeting in Iron Mountain was attended by mayors of the three cities and their attorneys and councilmen. Breitung Township indicated it would take similar action today and all townships in Dickinson County are expected to support the resolution.

The State Board of Censuses will meet in Lansing Wednesday with three possibilities on the time issue. They are:

1. Daylight Saving Time immediately upon certification of the petition of Daylight Saving Time advocates.
2. A delay in the changeover until midnight Sunday, May 28.
3. Possibility that a court order will be sought to prevent the change.

Pine Mountain To Add Pool

IRON MOUNTAIN — Plans for a $250,000 addition to the lodge at Pine Mountain have been announced by Lavern Trepp, manager of the lodge and ski facilities.

Trepp said contracts for the job are expected to be let later this month.

Work will include a new wing on the lodge, covering 36,000 square feet. It will house 23 new guest rooms, a rental ski shop, new public ski locker facilities, an indoor-outdoor swimming pool and new dining and kitchen facilities.

Trepp said the new wing is expected to be completed by Sept. 1, 1968, with some parts of it ready for the 1967-68 ski season.

Construction will be entirely of concrete and steel.

Snow To North And More Sighted

On Friday, March 19, Marquette had snow flurries and Ishpeming had enough of the white stuff to leave traces on the ground. Escanaba had showers, but has had no snow since May 10. The Weather Bureau forecasts scattered showers and occasional brief snow flurries likely for eastern Upper Michigan today and freezing temperatures and frost likely tonight.

The situation will be favorable for picnics, the Weather Bureau indicated, as there will be no insects about, but wood ticks will be available.

Cuzco, Peru, is the oldest continually inhabited city in all the Americas, dating back to about the time the Battle of Hastings was fought.

School Board Is Honored By MEA

The Region 17 Council of the Michigan Education Association has selected the Escanaba Area Public School Board of Education as the "Outstanding School Board" to receive the MEA's School Bell Award.

The presentation was made at a Region 17 Council meeting held at Kingsford on Wednesday.

Dr. Vernon K. Johnson, past president of the Escanaba Area Public School Board, accepted the award for the Board in the absence of Forrest Henslee, president, who was unable to be present. Dr. and Mrs. Johnson attended the program in the Kingsford High School.

The MEA in honoring the local school board noted that: "The Board has demonstrated on numerous occasions its progressive attitude. The Area Schools were consolidated in 1958. Since that time many accomplishments have been noted, including:

Passing of a bond issue which gave the Escanaba Area a very fine high school; plus several successful millage campaigns which were important in improving the welfare of the students and the teachers and resolving certain problems.

Additional rooms and a cafeteria have been added to the Junior High School; there have been additions to several elementary schools; new grade schools have been built at strategic points in the community.

"The Board has attempted on all occasions to meet the needs of the more than 4,500 students as well as the very active additional educational program and community projects."

"The Area Board was able to successfully operate under Public Act 379, and as a result passed and approved a very meaningful master agreement.

"It is reported that the action of the Board has been continuous during the present school year negotiations and is indicative of the willingness of this Board to provide progressive education for the people of the greater Escanaba community."

The MEA Region 17 School Bell award to a teacher went to James R. Smith, sixth grade teacher in the Ishpeming Public Schools.

What Medicaid Costs

Medicare is the most sweeping addition to the Social Security Program since enactment of the original act in 1935. It undertakes to provide for 19½ million Americans over 65 but the first $40 of the hospital bill for the first 60 days of a "spell of illness" and all but $10 of the daily bill for the 61st through the 90th day.

The elderly pay nothing to get these services, but for $3 a month they can insure themselves under another phase of Medicare so it will pay 80 per cent of their doctor bills in any year after the first $50. So far 17 million have signed for this insurance.

The other side of Social Security's Medicare coin is called Medicaid, and it provides government-paid medical services to persons in welfare categories like Old Age Assistance, Aid to the Blind, Aid to the Disabled and Aid to Dependent Children. It also provides Medicaid to persons whose income is so low that they are judged medically indigent. (The line is $1,900 annual income for single persons and $2,700 for a couple.)

Expenditures for medical care provided by the government (with the federal and state governments sharing the costs) is the fastest growing part of Michigan's public assistance program. Costs have jumped from $27.8 million in fiscal 1963 to $149 million in fiscal 1968 — an increase of 436 per cent!

There are other heavy increases coming up, because the Medicaid program has not been fully implemented in Michigan yet. This was the issue that brought criticism of Governor Romney when he by executive order restricted part of the program from implementation because the Legislature had not made an appropriation to pay for it that was realistically large. The program benefits for some of the medically indigent were delayed.

Deadline for full implementation of this federal Social Security program is July 1, 1975, so there is a built-in state government cost increase that will require more state taxes. The state has some say about how it shall go with this program, but none about whether it shall embrace it or not.

When Medicaid was started the state estimated 628,000 persons of its 8 million were eligible for it — 251,000 public assistance recipients and 377,000 medical indigents. Not covered were 491,000 low income adults too young for Medicare whose eligibility for Medicaid must be assured by Michigan by July 1, 1975.

Even with Michigan's curtailed program of Medicaid the cost would exceed state budget estimates of $57.1 million for 1966-67 and $114.2 million for 1967-68. The real figures: $94.4 million and $149 million.

The Medicaid programs, says the Citizens Research Council of Michigan, "is still in its infancy both in terms of coverage, services and costs. Expenditures may be expected to rise considerably higher. It is especially significant that the state must provide medical assistance to medically indigent persons between the ages of 21 and 64 and that federal matching funds will not be available to aid in meeting these costs. The state will have to carry the entire burden of cost for this group."

The people ordered these expanding medical assistance programs with their support of them in Congress. Now we are being presented with the bill for them in state taxes. There is no escape from these taxes. The people do not favor a reduction in government medical aid any more than they favor a major retrenchment in schooling.

The situation makes an increase in state income imperative and it makes the Legislature's refusal to act quickly on the income tax a delaying tactic which cannot possibly prevail. The legislative skirmishing is to juggle the tax bill so that it is politically least offensive, but it's only the first installment on a big new debt that no sugar coating is going to make popular.

Lindys Gift

No one needs to be reminded how far aviation has advanced in the 40 years since Charles Lindbergh became the first man to fly the Atlantic Ocean nonstop.

Even so, it is a little startling to read that a full-scale replica of "The Spirit of St. Louis" — which was not so tiny a plane as many might think — has been carried from New York to the Paris Air Show in the belly of an Air Force C-141 Starlifter jet in less than one-fourth the time it took for Lindbergh to make his flight.

The eyebrows are not lifted very far, however. We have come to expect things like this. Today's jets are already obsolescent, already outstripped in size and speed and cargo capacity by the new designs coming off the drawing boards. We are startled at least once a day by some new achievement of technology.

Not so in 1927, at least not before the day the word flashed around the world that "Lucky Lindy" had made it. Aviation was less than 21 years old (Lindbergh himself was only 25). The airplane was still a curiosity in the public mind, an unsafe contraption, more a toy than a tool. Only a few fanatics like Gen. Billy Mitchell ever thought it would amount to anything.

Then, in a brief 33½ hours, the airplane came of age.

Lindbergh's feat was one of its kind. Pioneering nowadays is a team effort. There will be no solo flights to the moon in a privately built spaceship.

Lindbergh deservedly went down in the history books because of this one exploit. But while we remember his flight to Paris, we tend to forget his other contributions to aviation, such as his flights across the Pacific to pioneer airline routes.

We recall his isolationist stance before World War II, but forget his valuable service as a civilian pilot adviser in the Pacific theater, during which he "illegally" shot down two Japanese Zeros.

According to Scripps-Howard writer Richard Starnes, Lindbergh, now 65, has achieved the second greatest ambition of his life — to be able to go unrecognized almost anywhere.

Mime Sets Record And Poses Query

By JEAN WORTH

Bay Beacon, "the student voice of Bay de Noc Community College," published weekly at the college, editorialized in its May 12 edition on the record attendance at the performance of Frans Reynders, a pantomime artist who performed recently at the college in its "Man and the Arts" course.

Most of the lectures, concerts and foreign films—paid for in part by student activities fees—have been excellent, suggests Bay Beacon, but the Reynders performance was supposed to benefit the students and only two of them saw it!

The audience was the smallest that Reynders had played to in his professional career, he said. It included a total of about 25 members of the school administration and faculty and townspeople and only two students.

The Unusual

The problem of the art series at the Community College is lack of attendance. "So far, interest in the presentations has been lacking, to say the least," The editorial says. "We support the idea of unusualness in the choice of artists and lectures, but a whole series such as 'Man and the Arts' should not consist of out-of-the-ordinary performances, or this may discourage, rather than stimulate, student participation."

"If the administration wishes to bring cultural programs into Delta County which appeal only to the general public, it should do so with general funds. If the series is to appeal to the student it should be at least partially chosen by the student government."

President Richard Rinehart of the college, who chose the programs, is inclined to agree and there will be students and faculty participation in future selection of cultural program artists.

Students' Role

But there will be no magic in such an arrangement and the real intent of the cultural series should not be to fill the auditorium, but to give the students an educational exposure in the arts. This cannot be done by picking programs that most everyone is willing to see because they are at a Lawrence Welk level of art, offend the understanding of no one, and appeal to the teenie-weenies. It might be better for two students to see something new than for 200 to see familiar low culture all over again.

But there are elements in the poor attendance at the mime show which call for understanding of an evolutionary new element in the community—the community college. No other agency tried to bring a mime to Delta County before and if the college is to expose its students to a broad spectrum of art there must be some spirit of adventure and inquiry on the part of the student body.

Home Focus

This is not nearly so easy to achieve in a community college, with students living at home or commuting from their homes, as at Bay de Noc, as it is in a campus-type school like Northern Michigan University or the University of Michigan, where the student body is much more a "captive" audience.

Some schools make attendance at cultural presentations a part of humanities course

An honor trophy for excellent work in safety activity has been awarded to the Safety Patrol and School Service Squad of the Webster School by the Automobile Club of Michigan. Members of the Girls' Service Squad and the Boys' Safety Patrol of the school were awarded certificates of service.

requirements, but this makes them part of the formal instructional process and this is apart from the original intention here of having the concert series as an enrichment program for student body and community.

Community college students, here, or anywhere, still are part of a "peer" group of equals that consists of their familiar neighborhood friends. They have not as college students had reorientation to a life intimately bound up at all hours with college campus.

There remain choices of many things to do with long familiar friends of the neighborhood and college activities—especially optional, cultural ones—come into competition with this process and don't compete with it well.

Pains of Growth

It takes a husky stimulation to get students out of this familiar pattern into nighttime activities at the college which aren't a part of the students, formal instruction. Foreign films do better than lectures or concerts when they're presented at the college, but if they're shown at Bonifas Auditorium off campus they wither, too.

The problem is one of growth and cultural growth is a refinement more difficult to stimulate than the pursuit of knowledge, which is more intimately bound up with pay checks. They're companions.

King's Point Shaky

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Aside from his moral appeals to end U. S. participation in the Vietnam war, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. is using an economic argument to make his point. It deserves to be examined.

The argument is that U. S. outlays for the war represent a major interference with the domestic wars against poverty and racial discrimination.

The presumption is that if these expenditures could be halted through the advent of peace, then a massive money assault could be made upon the problems of the poor—which includes a high proportion of U. S. Negroes.

King's premise is very shaky.

Evidence from history is skimpy, but what there is ought not to hearten him. Lawmakers who grow accustomed to spending huge sums in wartime show no disposition to turn similar amounts to constructive domestic purpose when war ends. They simply scale back.

In World War II, federal spending reached a peak of $98.3 billion in fiscal 1945. Two years later, with defense outlays cut to the lowest level in the whole 1942-67 period, the budget of $33 billion offered no great sums for stirring attacks on accumulated social and economic problems.

The fact is, no such dramatic undertakings have ever been launched.

Last September, the venerable Negro leader, A. Philip Randolph, unveiled his long-awaited "freedom budget," calling for huge social reconstruction in American society—at enormous cost.

To strike down poverty and make America's cities livable and workable for the poor as well as others, Randolph proposed to clean up and rebuild the cities, modernize transportation systems, lay out $27 billion or more for new educational facilities in six years and roughly $50 billion for housing in 10 years.

He put no over-all money tag on his freedom budget, but however, and Bay de Noc College will involve all its elements—students, faculty and administration—in planning its arts series and continue them. Meanwhile, its good to have the students newspaper speak its mind on the issue, even if it suggests that the flopper results from a choice of dumb show when a steel guitar workshop would have sent them.

Cover the East and South hands and see if you can figure out how Helen Sobel Smith defended with the West hand against South's three no-trump contract.

Helen started by opening the king of spades. North's two-club bid had asked South to bid a four-card major if he had one, so Helen saw little point in attacking with a four-card minor suit when the chances were that South would also hold four cards in the suit.

The king of spades looked like a happy choice. It held the trick as East played the nine. Helen stopped to count points. She counted 22 between her hand and dummy. Give South the 16-point minimum for his opening no-trump and the best East could hold would be two jacks. It appeared certain that East held the jack of spades, so Helen continued with the queen. That was allowed to hold also. Declarer put the ace on the third spade lead and played his ace of hearts.

Helen was ready. She dropped her king. This established her partner's jack of hearts as an entry to the 13th spade and South wound up losing three spades, one heart, one diamond, game rubber and his equanimity.

The play looks easy when you see all the cards, but it was just as easy for Helen at the table. ## Ann Landers

Beef Problem Is In Your Head, Get Help

Dear Ann Landers: I teach sociology in a Connecticut college. I made a recent travel study around the nation, talking to college students on sex.

Their reports indicate that a good-looking male student of 21, if he has a smooth tongue, can seduce nine out of 10 of the pretty girls he takes out, regardless of her age, religion, social or economic background.

Are these young boys bragging or dreaming?—NO NAME PLEASE

Dear No Name: The percentage sounds wildly inflated to me. Moreover, I suspect males who make such claims are not only grabbing and dreaming—they are also selling.

The idea that everybody is doing it has great sales appeal. The young men hoped to get this notion across to you as well as the girls whose resistance they are attempting to break down. Get it?

Dear Ann Landers: I was a heavy woman when my husband married me 17 years ago. I tried every imaginable kind of diet, and I did lose weight but I always gained it back.

Five years ago I put myself under a doctor's care. He found I had a thyroid condition and gave me medication and a strict diet. I lost 80 pounds. My husband kept saying, "You'll probably gain it all back."

I was very proud of myself, but my weight loss didn't accomplish what I had hoped for. My husband was still more interested in watching sports events on TV or going out alone. His idea of celebrating our wedding anniversary was to go to sleep early.

Within one year, I gained back the 80 pounds plus another 20. I've never been so depressed. I don't even feel like a human being, let alone a woman. If it weren't for our four children, I'd get a divorce. I see a social worker every week, and he tells me that no progress can be made until my husband comes in for talks.

My husband refuses—says I'm the one who is nuts, not him. Please tell me what to do.—LORAIN

Dear L: If you've been seeing a social worker every week, you don't need me to tell you that your problem originates in your head. You are using food as a substitute for companionship and blaming your husband for your obesity. You need intensive therapy and I hope you get it soon.

Dear Ann Landers: I know this letter stands a one-in-a-million chance of getting printed because so many people write about serious problems, but I'm going to take a chance anyway.

I work in the mail department of a large organization. Every day we receive hundreds of letters to employees. The envelopes often read: Mary Smith, Macy's Department Store, New York.

Mary could be a corset buyer, a cleaning woman, or the secretary to the president. It takes a lot of time to hunt up Mary Smith, and the hundreds of other employees whose mail is inadequately addressed.

Please tell people to write the name of the department on the envelope, and the person's title, if he has one.—FRUS-TRATED

Dear Frus: Here's your letter, and based on my own mail, which runs about 1,000 letters a day, your chances for getting a letter in print were not one in a million, but approximately one in 333, since I usually print three letters a day. Thank you for writing about a problem I've never heard of before. Who says there is nothing new under the sun?

What is French kissing? Is it wrong? Who should set the necking limits—the boy or the girl? Can a shotgun wedding succeed? Read Ann Landers' booklet, "Teen-Age Sex—Ten Ways To Cool It." Send 50c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped and self-addressed envelope.

Freehan, Horton Wallop Homers In Tiger Victory

DETROIT (AP) — If Willie Horton ever gets his timing sharp, things could be mighty rough for Detroit Tigers opponents.

As it is, the slugging left fielder has hit five home runs in four games, the latest Friday night in helping the Tigers to a 4-2 victory over the New York Yankees.

Catcher Bill Freehan also cracked a solo homer and drove in another run with a sacrifice fly. Ray Oyler accounted for the other Tigers run with a sacrifice fly.

Mickey Mantle was the big gun for the Yankees. The aging slugger drove in both runs, one with a single in the third inning and the other with a solo homer in the eighth.

"He timed a slow curve on me and hit it on the nose," said pitcher Mickey Lolich. "It made things a little exciting, anyway."

Lolich took his fifth victory against two defeats as he scattered five hits and went the route. Mel Stottlemyre was the loser.

Detroit jumped on Stottlemyre in the second for two runs. Horton led off with a walk and Jim Northrup singled to left.

"I can't seem to get more than one hit a game," said Northrup. "but as long as we win."

Norm Cash then grounded between first and second and Horace Clarke ran in to scoop up what appeared a double play ball. But Northrup stayed between Clarke and the ball and Clarke muffed it for an error, filling the bases.

"I deliberately stayed in front of it as long as I could," said Northrup. "It almost hit me."

Freehan and Oyler then lifted sacrifice flies to left for two runs.

New York scored in the third on a walk to Dick Howser and singles by Tom Tresh and Mantle. Lolich had a couple more ragged innings, but didn't allow another run except for Mantle's homer in the eighth.

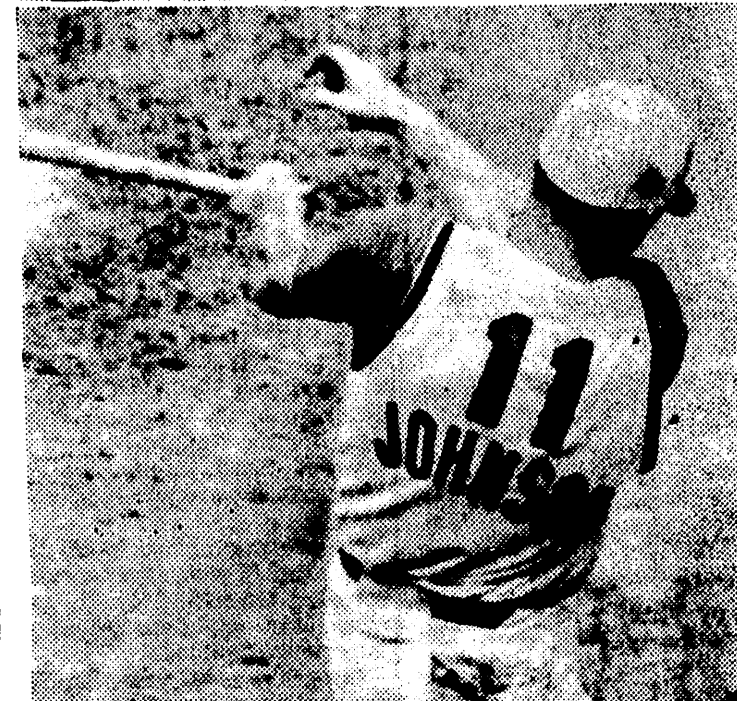

"He was having trouble getting the ball over at certain times, then he'd get in trouble and get better," Freehan said of Lolich.

Lolich said. "My best pitch is right at the knees and tonight they were being called balls. I had to get them up some and that spoiled my pattern and concentration."

Freehan cracked his homer to left in the third, his eighth of the year. "I didn't know if it would be a home run when I hit it," the big catcher said. "I hit it on a line. I didn't know if it was high enough."

The only other run came in the sixth when Horton led off with a homer. Horton hurt his

Cokes Keeps Ring Crown

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Curtis Cokes successfully defended his world's welterweight championship against Frenchman Francis Pavilla then said he had an agreement to fight Gypsy Joe Harris in July "if the money is right."

Cokes beat Pavilla on a technical knockout in the 10th round Friday night but the finish was confusing since the referee Pat Riley said he actually awarded the verdict to Cokes because a Pavilla backer leaped into the ring and not because Pavilla was in no condition to continue.

But there was no question of Cokes' superiority and Riley was of the opinion that Cokes would have won anyway had the fight gone on.

Moreover, the fight was a financial bust with only 2,870 persons paying $23,100 — about $40,000 less than the cost of staging it — and leaving Kenneth Hayles, promoter for the Greater Dallas Sports Association, as confused as the versions of the fight's finish.

Hayles had predicted $100,000 from 10,000 persons and said he had been told there was almost $40,000 in ticket sales the day before the fight.

However, he did not express a desire to get out of the promoting business although he hinted that "I'll have to think about whether the Cokes-Harris fight is in Dallas or elsewhere."

Harris appeared on the supporting card in flaming red trunks and put on quite a show as he gained a technical knockout over Benny Bowser, the Texas middleweight champion. He had been told he could have a title fight with the Cokes-Pavilla winner.

MANISTIQUE—Timothy Magnusson, 9, of Rte. 1, Germfask, is in critical condition in St. Luke's Hospital, this morning after an accident at 3:55 p. m. Friday.

State Police of the Manistique Post said the boy was riding his bicycle north on M-77, turned a little to the left and then to the right and was then struck by a car driven by Sheryl Leszewsky, 18, of Grand Rapids.

Miss Leszewsky drove to the right to avoid the bicycle, going off on the shoulder, officers said. The left rear side of the car hit the bicycle.

The accident happened two miles south of Germfask.

Timothy received head injuries and was flown to St. Luke's Hospital after preliminary treatment at Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital.

Apollo Manager Quits His Post

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—One of two top managers for the Apollo man-to-the-moon program at the Kennedy Space Center has resigned for "personal reasons" not connected with the Apollo 1 spacecraft tragedy.

"The job here has changed somewhat and I thought this was as good a time as any to resign," said Maj. Gen. John G. Shinkle, Apollo program manager for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. "The reasons are purely personal."

No one was named to fill the post after Shinkle's resignation becomes effective May 31, and there was speculation that it may never be filled.

Observers noted that plans for the Apollo program are fairly well along and suggested that emphasis in the future will turn to putting these plans into operation.

The planning effort now headed by Shinkle, as a result, may be absorbed in launch operations management headed by Rocco A. Petrone, operations director, observers said.

FRANK S. HOHOLIK has been selected to receive the Michigan Minuteman honors award at ceremonies at 11 a. m., May 24 in Lansing. He was nominated by Operation Action U.
